Armen Vahramyan

Who is Armen Vahramyan and above all what does his Art stand for?

To understand his work one needs to grasp the meaning behind what one observes, and to do this there is no better place to begin with than the land which bore him.

A land of great turmoil, and one which once reached from the Caspian to the Mediterranean Sea, it has now been reduced to a landlocked country, with much of its borders closed, and with its sacred mountain, Ararat, now lying just out of reach in their neighbour's territories.

Communism, a decimating massacre early in the 20th century [ Armenia and France accept it as genocide] the war with Azerbaijan and 2 massive earthquakes in the late '80's have shaken the very soul of this cultured and enterprising people.

Armen's works portray in a bold but colourful palette, using mythological symbolism [not least of which the revered Pomegranate ] and with hidden subtlety the tragedies of his people which have marked his own life.

Armenia is the first Christian country on Earth, and so the life of Christ is also meticulously depicted in several works.

Armen Vahramyan's aptness towards the creation of detail with the use of Oil as a medium leaves one breathless and eager to follow the journey through the 28 pieces exhibited .
